Finances Helped By Extra Purchases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state is counting on Ohioans to buy an extra six million of bottles of liquor a year to prop up its treasury and balance the budget.

To Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch, the estimate of such a liquor sale increase appears to be a wobbly crutch for state finances. "I don't see how liquor sales could possibly go that high," Crouch said candidly. "They are picking up, but they're still lagging behind last year's figures at this time."

If liquor sales failed to come up to the estimates of Finance Director James H. Maloon in the next two years, Ohio will lose about $10 million in anticipated income, money that already has been "spent" by legislative appropriation.

On the average, the state makes a little less than $1 on each fifth of liquor it sells.

The state levies a $1 tax on each gallon of liquor sold in Ohio. That comes to 20 cents for each fifth. On top of that, the state applies a markup which averages about $1 a bottle, but it costs the Department of Liquor Control a little more than 20 cents to market a bottle of liquor. The result — gallonage tax included — is a profit per bottle of slightly less than $1, on the average.

The state sells, through its monopoly system, about $220 million worth of liquor a year. Sales hit a $223 million peak in 1957, took a nosedive to $215 million in the 1958 recession and hit the $220 million level in both the calendar years of 1959 and 1960.

At the moment, 1961 sales are about $2.6 million behind the 1960 rate, mostly in the department's Cleveland and Canton districts.

Even with a brisk business pickup, Crouch sees little chance sales will soar to Maloon's estimate of $238 million in fiscal 1961-62 and $246 million in fiscal 1962-63.

Despite the fact 1957 was the banner year for sales, 1960 was the all-time profit high even though the state sold five million fewer bottles of liquor. The extra profit was provided by an extra 10 per cent markup ordered by executive action April 1, 1959.

The liquor monopoly system turned over $61.5 million in profit and fees to the state treasury last year against only $47.8 million in 1957. Since 1934 when the monopoly system was set up with the repeal of prohibition, state liquor profits have amounted to $864.5 million.

3 Children Drown As Boat Capsizes

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP)—A 10-passenger pontoon boat, crammed with two adults and 11 children from Kentucky, capsized in Indian Lake here Friday, drowning three of the youngsters. The others were rescued.

A futile attempt was made to save the life of one victim, first with artificial respiration and then with heart surgery which took place aboard a rescue craft.

The two adults aboard the overturned boat were the fathers of the drowned children. The victims were Theresa Trauth, 5, and her sister, Mary Claire, 7, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trauth Jr. of Southgate, Ky., and John Barry Brulport, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brulport of South Newport, Ky.

Brulport explained later, "We became alarmed when we noticed the front of the boat was riding high and we all rushed forward" — including Trauth who weighs about 250 pounds. "When we did, the front went down into the water and the whole thing just flopped over."

Robert Brunson of Newport, Ky., was standing near his cabin on shore when he saw his son and the others bobbing to the surface next to the capsized boat. He dove into the lake, swam under the boat and through its guard rails, and pulled one of the victims, Mary Trauth, to the surface.

She and the other two victims, although wearing life jackets, were trapped beneath the boat. Mary was given artificial respiration, and Lake Park Supt. Bob Harmon, said, "We thought we had brought her around. She got her color back and we got some good strong heart beats."

Then the boats faded. Dr. Ben Storer of Russell's Point quickly opened Mary's chest cavity and massaged her heart. But the boat-conducted surgery was in vain.

The other youngsters on the boat were picked up by other pleasure boats.

A dredge, with a crane, later lifted the overturned craft and the bodies of the other two trapped children were recovered.

Revolt Scare In Argentina Affects Confab

Trouble Underlines Urgency of Aid Need In Latin America

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay. (AP)—The revolt scare in Argentina underlined today the urgency of President Kennedy's proposal to help cure Latin America's social and economic ills. But it did not interrupt deliberation at the Inter-American Economic Conference here.

Delegates deliberating on how to get Kennedy's $20-billion Alliance for Progress program into motion were acutely aware that attempted uprisings like the abortive Argentine coup Friday night could touch off chain reactions in the countries of this troubled continent.

Reports of the revolt caused a wave of uneasiness until the Buenos Aires government announced the uprising had failed and blamed hotbeds.

Argentine Economic Minister Roberto Alemann offered to rush home. His government assured him there was nothing to fear and instructed him to continue his work at the conference.

Squabbles among the Latin American nations threatened to hold up progress at the conference, but a concession by Argentina raised hopes of a solution.

Argentina balked at signing a final conference declaration unless the meeting dropped the idea of a task force to supervise the development programs of nations to receive aid. The Argentines felt this would compromise their sovereignty and freedom of choice in the program.

The smaller Latin-American countries support the idea of a central commission as a way to safeguard their interests.

After a day of wrangling, Argentina agreed to go along with a new proposal sponsored by Brazil, Mexico, Chile and Colombia.

This plan would provide for a nine-man panel of experts to be named by inter-American agencies to advise—but not direct—the development projects of individual nations. The panel would have no veto power over nations applying for alliance funds.

New Meeting On Kenmar Contract Set

EAST PALESTINE — Another meeting between officials of the Kenmar Manufacturing Co. and representatives of the United Mine Workers has been scheduled for Monday at 1 p.m. at the plant, following three and one-half hours of talks Friday on a new working agreement.

Yesterday's meeting was attended by company officials and Thomas Dunn of Pittsburgh, secretary of Region 16, UMW. Indications were that the union and company are at least willing to bargain on some of the proposals contained in the company's latest contract offer.

Robert Maurer, president of the firm, told the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting at the plant Thursday that the company was caught in a wage-price squeeze.

Argentine Revolt Attempt Halted

Refugee Flow Cutoff Could Cause Flare Up

Touchy Situation May Speed Growing Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON, (AP) — U.S. officials believe an extremely explosive situation may build up very rapidly in East Germany if the Communist regime succeeds in clamping down drastically on the flow of refugees into West Berlin.

Such a situation might have the effect of speeding up the Berlin crisis—bringing it to a fever pitch of tension well before the end of this year. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has threatened to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany before the year is out.

Refugees from the German Communist rule have been fleeing into West Berlin at a rate sometimes approaching 2,000 a day. The total for this year is now close to 150,000. The East German population is about 17.2 million.

East German Deputy Premier Willy Stoph hinted Friday that measures to stop the refugee flow might be taken soon. He said East German travel regulations have been "shamelessly misused."

U.S. experts on German affairs say the effect of cutting off the flight of refugees would be to bottle up in East Germany thousands of discontented people with the result that in their frustration they might turn to outbursts of violence. These could embarrass the Soviet-backed Communist government and create an even higher degree of instability for it.

In event of serious rioting, and particularly if the German Communist forces were unable to cope with the situation, Soviet forces might be employed to restore order.

In 1953, Soviet troops were used to quell riots in several East German cities. At least 17 Soviet divisions were used to enforce a Soviet-proclaimed state of martial law in East Berlin. The uprisings, led by striking German workers, began in mid-June and continued to some degree into September.

The refugee problem is known to have engaged the attention of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high U.S. officials, though there appears to be nothing effective they can do about it at the moment.

Rusk, who returned Thursday night from Berlin crisis talks with allied leaders in Europe, made a personal report to President Kennedy Friday on the progress of NATO planning for both military and diplomatic moves to meet the Soviet challenge over the future of West Berlin.

Leaving Kennedy's office, Rusk told newsmen he had found "a high degree of unity among the Western allies on the Berlin problem."

Echo Satellite Still Whizzing Around Earth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Echo I, a satellite you can see with the naked eye—observed its first birthday today, still whizzing about the earth months after experts had predicted it would have fallen to a flaming death in the earth's atmosphere.

U.S. experts now estimate the huge balloon satellite, viewed by millions around the world during the past year, may sail around the earth for another year.

Although it has proved much more durable than anticipated, the 100-foot-diameter aluminum-coated sphere is only about two-thirds as effective now as when it was in its prime.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today that in recent experiments in the bouncing of radio signals off the oversized space ball the average reflected energy was about 40 per cent less than when it was injected into orbit last Aug. 12.

"Satisfactory transmission of voice, teletype and facsimile communications is still possible," NASA said.

NASA scientists offer several theories as to what has happened to Echo I.

Most agree that the once-smooth surface has become wrinkled with the passage of time and the recurrent transitions from sunlight to darkness and from intense heat to bitter cold.

Some believe it may have shrunk to a diameter of perhaps 70 feet. Others suggest that it has lost its spherical symmetry and

Rebels Seek To Overthrow Frondizi Rule

Anti-Red Group Fails To Arouse Popular Support

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A vest-pocket midnight revolt against President Arturo Frondizi came to an abrupt, bloodless end early today as the last rebel holdouts surrendered.

Diehards among the 80-man rebel band gave themselves up at 6:15 a.m. without firing a shot after receiving a surrender ultimatum from troops who ringed the telephone exchange they had seized shortly before midnight. Troops had trained a cannon on the building.

Earlier the rest of the insurgents had surrendered less than five hours after they seized the government radio station to broadcast claims they were taking over the government.

The rebels, who aroused no popular support, have not been clearly identified as to political tint. One of the group claimed they were anti-Communist nationalists with no political links.

Frondizi, who spent the night at his presidential office in conferences with top military and political aides, told newsmen as he left at daybreak, "The episode has definitely ended."

The rebels were arrested. Frondizi declared in a communique shortly after the rebels had broadcast their electrifying announcement that the attempted revolt was a dud. There was no bloodshed.

The government announcement blamed the pocket-sized uprising on "hotbeds." It accused them of trying to upset internal peace and damage Argentina's prestige abroad.

Government officials appeared convinced the attempted revolt had no important political significance. Frondizi remained in his office through the night waiting for final word that all resistance had been wiped out.

The abortive revolt caused a flurry of excitement. It roused fears that it might create confusion at the Inter-American Conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay, where delegates are seeking to implement President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program.

The rebels broadcast a revolution to REVOLT, Page 10

Kennedy Victorious Over Aid Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major victory for President Kennedy, the Senate has rejected an amendment striking at the heart of his foreign aid program.

The amendment, offered by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., was turned back 56 to 39 Friday night. It would have required yearly appropriations from Congress to finance Kennedy's program of development loans to struggling nations.

Ten Republicans went against their leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, to join 46 Democrats in support of the president. These Republican votes were critical because the amendment

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Five Point Program for Problem Solving

Today I returned to one of my favorite places, a place of special meaning to me, for there I once found an answer to a difficult personal problem. This favorite spot is the Church of St. Paul outside the walls of Rome.

To me this is one of the most beautiful churches in the world. It is approached through a vast colonnaded quadrangle representing an ancient pagan temple. A colossal statue of St. Paul stands in the center. Inside the cool depths of the church a veritable forest of marble columns stretches away toward the great altar under which lie the mortal remains of the great apostle.

Buried first in the catacombs after his beheading on the Appian Way, they were brought to this church one hundred fifty years later. Fifty-seven windows of pure alabaster shed a golden and mystic light in which the Holy Presence is not hard to sense. In this enormous vaulted structure all sounds of footsteps or voices are muted so that one is conscious of peace in depth.

I came first to St. Paul's outside the walls years ago as a tourist sightseer and was impressed with it then, more so even than by St. Peter's. But it was some years later that I entered it at a time when I was struggling with a problem that was disturbing me. I recall that I seated myself on the broad base of the last pillar in the last row of huge columns that march down the nave in towering rows of twenty.

I found myself relaxing mentally and physically and actually yielding my mental strain to the encompassing peacefulness of the noble church. I remembered and said over and over one of St. Paul's own glorious phrases, "the peace of God which passeth all understanding." Suddenly it seemed as if my problem detached or separated itself from my mind, and the feeling of relief was great indeed. I had the feeling that God Himself had taken my problem over for the moment.

At any rate, my mind having been relieved of its burden, I was able to compose and reorient my thinking. I then prayed for guidance. It was an unforgettable experience, for when the problem was handed back to me, my consciousness had been reconditioned so that I was able to deal with it efficiently and to work out a proper solution, whereas before going to this church I had been perplexed and confused.

In problem solving there are many procedures, but one that can be very important is to let your problem go into the hands of God temporarily until you get your mind into an organized condition for handling it. That this is a practical method is evidenced by the sort of people who use it.

The late Dale Carnegie once told me that when he had a tough problem he would walk along the street and drop into the nearest church. He would sit quietly, allowing the atmosphere to calm the mind. Then he would ask for direction, and so often did he receive right answers that he had great confidence in this method of problem handling.

Roger Babson, the famous statistician, likewise laid great stress on the value of meditation in an empty church in finding answers to perplexities.

Only recently in New York I went to the office of a friend of mine on Fifth Ave. to go to lunch with him. As we came to his office building, he said, "Norman I have a problem on my mind. Would you mind dropping into St. Thomas's with me for a few minutes?" So we entered the beautiful Episcopal Church and sat together in a rear pew. Only a few others were there, as it was not at service time. As we emerged to the street, he said, "Going into a church as we have just done is the best mental cobweb-clearer I know about. It helps me a lot."

But there is a definite technique to this form of problem solving, this method of going into a church for quietness, releasing and guidance. The several elements in the technique are:

(1) Sit in a pew and deliberately throw your mind into neutral.

(2) Consciously relax your body, letting all muscles go limp.

(3) Think of the problem as being lifted free of your mind; conceive of God as taking it over from you.

(4) While the problem is mentally separated from you, conceive of your consciousness as being reconditioned to receive it back.

(5) Ask for and believe that you are receiving guidance, that new insights will come.

I can assure you that this five-point program is one of the best of all methods of problem solving.

A donation of $100 was made to the Damascus Fire Department when members of Garfield Grange met Wednesday night. The money will be applied on the purchase of a two-way radio for the department.

Miss Mattie Kutz, lecturer, was instructed to contact State Grange Master Byron Frederick to be speaker at the Sept. 27 meeting, at which time 25- and 50-year members will be honored.

"Safety" was the theme of the program which included: Opening song, "America the Beautiful"; roll call, "original rules for the home and farm"; poem, "safety rules," Frank Kamper; "new safety rules," Robert Morrow; poem, "safety song," Ellis Steer; discussion on "various rules in the home, farm and highways"; and closing song, "Bringing in the Sheaves."

The next meeting will be Aug.

Wheat Quota Vote Scheduled Aug. 24

Wheat Quota Vote Scheduled Aug. 24

Wheat producers will vote Aug. 24 on whether or not marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1962 wheat crop. L. L. Moff, chairman, Mahoning County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded growers today.

Quotas for the crop were proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture on May 12, but setting of the referendum date was deferred, pending action to provide an improved wheat program for the crop.

While action has not yet been completed on a new wheat program, the date for the referendum on 1962 wheat marketing quotas is being set now in order that as many producers as possible may be apprised of the voting time. All eligible producers will be encouraged to participate in the referendum, making their desires known through a free vote.

If quotas are approved by at least two-thirds of the farmers who vote in the Aug. 24 referendum, cooperators will be eligible for 1962 wheat price support at a level to be determined later. If quotas are not approved by the necessary percentage of votes, there will be no limit on marketings, and price support — at 50 per cent of parity — will be available to those farmers who comply with their acreage allotments.

Ballots will be cast at local polling places throughout the 39-state commercial wheat area. Location of polling places will be announced by county ASC committees, who will have charge of the referendum locally.

Permit Received To Build Pavilion

A building permit to proceed with construction of a pavilion at Memorial Park was received from the state Friday by the Salem Park Commission.

Since the pavilion is to be a public building, permission from the state was needed before construction could be begun. C. F. Tomlinson, superintendent of parks and recreation, explained.

Park Commission employees will construct the pavilion, and Tomlinson said it is hoped that the structure will be completed this fall.

The Kiwanis Club donated $1,500 of the estimated $3,000 the pavilion will cost. The steel and concrete structure will have seating accommodations for approximately 80 persons.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Plus Some Lunacy Now And Then

There can be no satisfaction in "I told you so" when human lives and international relations are at stake, but in a previous comment on plane hijackings we predicted these would be a repetition of the bomb outrages that are still giving fits to airlines.

The incident of the Pan American World Airways jetliner seizure this week turned out to be the handiwork of the same kind of lunatic capable of planting a bomb in an airplane and the equally crazy fools who take delight in sounding false alarms about bombs in airplanes. It is a certainty there now will be an epidemic of the same nature that grew out of the bomb outrages which destroyed planes and crews and passengers.

From now on, thanks to President Kennedy's top official order to lock the doors into cockpits, which should have been done long ago, hijackings will be impossible. What is to be expected now is a series of false alarms in which anonymous telephone callers will tip off airlines that hijackers are planning to steal their planes. Planes will be held on the ground while passengers are checked out.

In some instances, the tips may be true. In most instances, they will be false. It will go hard with all passengers who look like Cubans, or who are imagined to bear some resemblance to Cubans by people who have no idea what Cubans look like. Americans will not easily abandon their conviction that Cubans are hijackers, though they may be inclined now to give them the benefit of the doubt after dead-wrong conclusions and a report from Havana that Fidel Castro regretted the Pan American incident and has had to put up with a particularly violent hijacking of a Cuban airplane.

The hard core of the problem is what to do with hijackers.

This will be no easier to solve in the case of air piracy than it was in the case of sea piracy. But eventually the solution will be what it turned out to be in the case of the Tripoli pirates. They must be convinced the game isn't worth the candle.

They probably came to that conclusion when Cuba sent back the Pan American jetliner intact, refusing to keep it. The market for hijacked airplanes disappeared at that instant.

Except for the false alarms that will keep airlines and airport managers humping, that should be the end of it. Whatever laws are passed will do no good but neither will they do any harm. Hijacking will now be relinquished to the hoaxers, who will have a lunatics field day until the novelty wears off.

A Point Just Short of Fury

President Kennedy now has made one mobilization speech and Premier Khrushchev has made two—the one he made Monday night and the one he made July 8, when he told military academy graduates he had ordered a 25 per cent increase in Soviet defense spending for 1961.

The increase, he explained, was because the United States and its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies were stepping up their preparations for war; the United States alone was getting ready to spend $53 billion a year, he said. This was a surprise to the United States and its North Atlantic have to spend that much now to match what Premier Khrushchev says he is going to spend.

This is the traditional procedure of sword-rattling that has preceded many wars and has averted a few, though that is hard to prove. There is one thing about it that needs to be watched.

The object of sword-rattling is to out-rattle the opposition, to the effect that the successful rattler gets most of what he wants without drawing his sword. This is Premier Khrushchev's game; he would admit it if he had the privilege of candor.

It is dangerous—and he would admit that too. And one reason for the danger is the possibility he may push the United States and its allies into a state of fury by giving them no hope of saving their dignity except by fighting. That was what happened when Britain came to the rescue of Poland in 1939. It was what happened when German U-boats threatened to drive the United States off the high seas in World War I.

The difference between what happened then and what is happening now is that the Germans wanted World War I and World War II. They had prepared to fight them at a particular time and under particular circumstances. They were seeking war.

No one believes the Soviet Union wants war.

Everybody knows the NATO allies do not want war.

Yet the sword-rattling, the sword-sharpening and the sword-brandishing must be carried on as part of the game both sides must play out to the end, each hoping to stop at a point just short of exciting the other's fury.

It would seem necessary now for Mr. Kennedy to make another mobilization speech, to even the score, being careful to include in it—as Premier Khrushchev was careful to include in his speech Monday night—a hopeful hint of what could be accomplished if sword-rattling were abandoned in favor of negotiation.

Detroit Dreads the First Bite

Spokesmen for the auto industry, it is reported, are in a mood to agree with Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, that something must be done about exhaust fumes by 1964. Spurred by a recent threat to ask for federal law if they failed to do it of their own accord, the spokesmen went back to Detroit to improve exhaust systems.

They have every reason to make haste. Detroit dreads the first bite of federal law-making that might lead to further bites. It has been blessedly free of federal regulations.

There has been no lack of things to tempt legislators, either—exhaust fumes, excessive speed, tardiness in adding safety features such as firewalls and doors that can't fly open on impact, the smoke nuisance of diesel-powered trucks, headlight design, safety in frame structures and unrealistic horsepower ratings and claims.

But the auto industry has been singularly free of restrictions, regulations and threats thereof. In a country whose people believe the federal government nibs into too many places where it has nothing to offer but confusion, there has been no objection. Even the government's interest in seat belts failed to meet with wide-spread approval, though it is noteworthy that here, too, the auto industry was quick to promise to install the fittings so buyers wanting belts could have them installed at minimum cost starting in 1962.

It remains to be seen how exhaust improvement will have worked out by 1964, especially if a trend toward diesel trucks continues. But it already can be put down as a certainty that the auto industry will be responsive to federal wishes when backed up by a threat of federal legislation.

Wisdom is common sense, but not near common enough.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Major Titov is a brave and dedicated hero, but he will never be known as "Silent" Herman. He proved a man can be weightless, but not talkless. He is not only a colorful, good looking performer, but writes his own dialogue.

Khrushchev has been sounding off as if he had flown ahead of Vostok II as an outer-space guide and publicity agent. Titov was suspended in space 25 hours and Nikita has been suspended in boasts, exhortations and adjectives ever since.

Soviet feat was epochal and nobody will be flabbergasted to hear Khrushchev has landed first all-Russian ballet dance troupe on moon.

Russians are no brainier than our Edisons, Morges and Wright Brothers, so the fact they are making us look like bush leaguers must be due to fast work between blueprint and performance, not blocked by committees, conferences, hassles, coffee breaks and general snafu. And they're not concentrating on electric dishwashers, deluxe care and iceboxes.

It's humiliating to hear triumphant Soviet spaceship global excursionist saying, "I'm an eagle; what's new with you?"

We have been taught to believe that Americans were the top flight engineers or scientists of the world. To hear Khrushchev twist the Ethel Merman song into "I can fly anything better than you can" is exasperating. But it wouldn't surprise us to hear that Moscow had put the Volga Boatman in orbit.

Khrushchev is certainly the Barnum of the Red world. His sense of sensationalism, curcus stuff, advertising and timing is terrific. Cyrus Eaton, American capitalist who got his fortune under the American Way, had Gagarin as his house guest at the moment the new spaceship took off. Cyrus may try to hit the moon with that three-horse Russian hitch or "troika."

In the meantime Khrushchev seems out to become the world's best bad actor, as he struts the stage in one of the most dramatic moments of history, using Major Titov's flight to intimidate the earth.

UNITED STATES IS SELLING 250 buffaloes to public. Here's a chance for folks who have always looked forward to day when they could have their own buffalo. Price is $180 a head, which is higher than in past sales but when you wanna buffalo you wanna buffalo.

Cape Cod, once a place where you might find only Eugene O'Neill, the Provincetown Players and a few lost tourists, is to become a national playground through beach improvements. Beach congestion may become so terrific name may be changed to Cape Cuddle.

Probers have found New York school chief did nothing reprehensible when he bought, under another man's name, a small boat, built by school students. Mr. Theobald explained it by saying he didn't think it would be well for students to know they were building boat for him, which seems okay here. If a student flunked or got low marks in building the vessel and knew it was going to the boss teacher, he might very well go easy on the seam caulking or even bore a hole in the bottom. In such a case a desire to be the Unsinkable Man is excusable.

After Munich, Poland Seemed A Push Over, So

Twilight of Congress

By ROWLAND EVANS

There is a curiously unreal quality about Congress these days.

The stage is there and on it can be seen the usual props—the lights and scenery, the snuff boxes, the dignified tread of the southern grandees, the brisk efficiencies of the young Kennedy-men.

The props are all there and the actors tell their lines without a flaw but nobody is watching.

This is one of the central facts about the new administration.

For years, ever since the binding caucus was abolished, the men of Congress have been yielding their power bit by bit to the White House to make the great political decisions of the federal government. The power drains out like sand in an hour glass.

They long since gave up most of the Constitutional rights to "regulate commerce." They have been absorbed by the alphabet agencies downtown—the ICC, the FCC, the FPC, the Tariff Commission.

When World War II pushed the United States to the peak of world influence, and the demands of diplomacy and power compelled swift decisions, the jealous Senate began to yield to the White House a little here, a little there.

These subtle additions to the executive power—found in such documents as the Formosa Resolution—virtually conceded the power to declare war, which had become a meaningless function anyway.

During the Eisenhower years, the slipping away of congressional power was partially hidden by the simple and abnormal fact that Congress was under strong Democratic control.

POLITICAL competition between the Johnson-Rayburn Congress and the Eisenhower White House made for zestful drama and gave Congress the illusion of power.

Sen. Johnson, now the vice president, was the most skillful political showman in town. Reporters haunted the Senate Press Gallery to study the remarkable Johnson and watch for his ingenious political plays.

For two years before the political conventions in 1960, the Senate was the seed bed of presidential ambitions. This added to the excitement of the place and made the Senate the most enthralling stage in town—but it did not conceal the fact that in his struggles with Congress, President Eisenhower was usually the winner.

In today's Senate, Kennedy and Johnson are no longer there. Vice President Nixon, whose everyruling and tie-breaking vote oozed with political significance, also has departed.

Vanished and almost forgotten, too, are the great investigations of the McCarthy era when a single member of the Senate had an almost life-or-death power over the men downtown.

It has odd ramifications, this gradual erosion of power from the Congress to the White House. As the sands of real power dribble away, the symbols of power take their place—like gleaming new office buildings.

One might think from the generous proportions of the new House Office Building that the membership were about to double or that the two old buildings were about to be demolished. But the membership is limited by law to 435. And the old buildings will remain.

The Senate built its own new office building two years ago, side by side with the old. Ninety-six senators were housed in the handsome old structure. Now 100 will be housed in the old and new.

With the new buildings, and the new subways and the elegant new facade of the Capitol itself, have come the Cadillacs and the Lincoln Continentals, to carry the leaders and the assistant leaders and the other hierarchs on their appointed rounds.

If the erosion of congressional power continues, it may be only a question of time before a Cadillac becomes the standard perquisite for senators—a small solace for diminished influence.

VERY SOON now the President is likely to get a brand new grant of jealously-guarded power from Congress. This is the power to finance foreign aid over the next few years by borrowing from the Treasury instead of obtaining appropriations from Congress.

This new authority will tilt the hour glass a bit more steeply toward 1600 Pennsylvania ave.

Perhaps the hour glass will some day start to tip back. Congress has slapped down the President on several occasions this year, voting down three of his reorganization requests and denying his appeal for new powers to control farm production.

Last week the Senate ignored the President and approved millions of unasked dollars for bombers.

But these rebuffs seem more like exceptions that prove the rule. The trend is the other way. It is hastened by the publicity engines of the executives, by the glamor of the White House, by the President's dominance in foreign and military policy and by the marvels of modern communication.

The trend is the other way to hear them talk, the men of Congress know it.

Red TV Kicks

By ERNEST WEATHERALL

Army Dependents' Top Entertainment

BERLIN — American Army dependents in West Berlin have a new way of entertaining guests visiting the divided city. They invite them to spend the evening watching "the other channel"—the East Berlin TV station—which gives them an electronic-eye view of the Communist world.

Except for the novelty of having East German party boss, Walter Ulbricht, come into your living room and announce that co-operative farms must produce more for the "Seven Year Plan," Communist TV gets rather boring.

Recently, East Berlin video showed thousands of refugees checking in at a reception center. But the program said these were refugees from West Germany who fled to the "freedom" of the German Democratic Republic.

The refugee camp was an old castle in the little town of Barby, just 12 miles south of Magdeburg.

The TV narrator said, "Each day West German citizens arrive at the frontier posts in Marienborn and Oebisfelde to ask our frontier guards for permission to take up residence here."

THEN A FAMILY, who had fled the Soviet Zone a year before and returned, was interviewed.

"They were compelled to work in West Germany for a starvation wage," the narrator continued, "and then the man lost his job. They were put out of their miserable dwelling because they could not pay the inflated rent and then roamed the streets."

This was followed by a well-rehearsed, tearful confession when the ex-defector said, "We were lured by fairy tales of the 'golden West' but now we are glad to have returned to the German Democratic Republic. We will join an agricultural producers cooperative and live in peace and security."

Each week the TV cameras take viewers around East Germany to show the faithful how goes the "Seven Year Plan."

In an Edward R. Murrow type, "Person to Person" program, you meet a copper miner at the Wilhelm Piek mine in the Hartz mountains who has exceeded his quota; a visit to the Karl Liebknecht machine works at Magdeburg to a machinist and his family who re proud of him for becoming a "hero worker" for the third time.

Then there is a quiz program American viewers call "The 64 East Mark Question." Here contestants from Communist party cells in Dresden, Leipzig and Hall answer such questions as "On what date did Lenin return to Russia to lead the revolution for freedom from oppression?"

Viewers in the West wonder whether it's back to the uranium mines at the Czech border if the contestant misses a question. So far none have. American viewers suspect that the Reds have stolen a capitalistic trick and rigged the programs.

THE RED TV network seems to have a hard time keeping its technicians. Each week several technicians—cameramen, producers, directors and set designers—flee to West Berlin.

This probably accounts for some uneven quality in the programs. Some are good, technically speaking, while others remind American viewers of the early days of TV in the United States just after the war.

East Berlin TV has American video topped in one field. Most of the announcers are pretty, husky-voiced girls who all look like Miss Universe herself, Marlene Schmidt, who happens to come from East Germany.

The Communist have built new TV transmitters near the West German border and stepped up power of their East Berlin stations so that the free world can enjoy a clear propaganda picture of the "workers paradise."

In East Berlin, it's possible to watch the West Berlin television programs too. And this brings up the question whether anyone in the Soviet Zone is indiscreet enough to invite his Communist friends in for an evening viewing of programs from the free world.

Beware the Pitchmen!

By TRUMAN TWILL

The bushy-tails will have to excuse me while I turn into a skinny-tail about Gagarin and Titov, the Communist space men.

They overdid it when they spoiled their buildup with a political testimonial. Gagarin even went on the mashed-potato-and-peas-circuit for the dear old Communist party, hitting Cuba and other hot spots. That tore it.

I doubt that Gagarin ever got any further off the ground than a ride in the elevator that takes students aloft in the University of Moscow skyscraper. I think the globecircling flight he is supposed to have made last April 12 was a phony.

What, then, am I supposed to think about Titov's feat, when his voice was heard clearly by people on the ground, including people in this country?

What the Communists want me to think is that this product of totalitarianism was so cool and collected up there he could curl up and go to sleep for eight hours while hurtling through cosmic darkness at 18,000 miles an hour.

What the omunists want me to think is that their system of guided thought and philosophical absolutes has produced a superman with tousled hair and boyish grin — and I just do not feel like going along with the proposition.

I think Titov stayed safe on the ground, like Gagarin, and that the voice which purported to be his had been pre-recorded and was being played in Vostok II for the astonishment of all the gillies who were expected to leap to the conclusion that everybody did leap to, the way it was hoped they would — that Russia was way out ahead of everybody in space exploration.

I think that 25,000-word political platform which was dumped on the world a few days ago goes with all this and it all adds up to a large-scale attempt to bamboozle the rest of us into a state of international fascination at a critical juncture in the chaotic pulling and hauling inside the Kremlin.

What we don't know about Russia's internal troubles can't hurt us, but we can be dead certain they're having them, just as we're having them, except we have a system for doctoring ourselves and the Communist quacks know only one way to deal with political malaise, which is to kill the patient and start fresh.

I think these people, because they have no inhibitions about showing their contempt for us, are playing us for suckers. They have spotted what they think is a fatal weakness.

It is the tendency among Americans to defer to foreign influence.

This is accompanied by a tendency to downgrade ourselves, which accounts for our over-assertiveness in so many circumstances. We are unsure of ourselves so we alternately bluster and repent.

We exaggerate the strength of the enemy and deprecate our own strength so we won't be caught short in a showdown. This astonishes our friends abroad. It also scares them. They're afraid we may get so nervous we'll burn down the barn to get rid of the rats.

Being from Missouri isn't healthy, and to discount any of Moscow's big lies is little short of disloyalty to the American way of life, but I will have to be shown that Gagarin and Titov did what they are supposed to have done. I could have gulped it down whole and kept it down if they hadn't been so hell-bent on the political angle. That alerted me to the danger of believing what anyone of an unfriendly nature wants me to believe. The political pitchmen are busy.

It's a good time to be from Missouri.

The boys are trying to con us into doing what they want us to do and you can be sure, they won't miss a trick, if they can make us believe them.

Unionport Ties Tilt In 7th 5-5; Smithfield, Amvets Triumph

Old Dutch, Stepanic's, Shaffer Ford Play In District Tournament Tonight

Pitcher Bill Herman won his own game as he tripled in Dick Good in the last of the ninth inning to give Old Dutch a 6-5 extra inning victory over Unionport in the opening session of the double elimination District Tournament Friday at Kelley Park.

In the other tournament battle Smithfield Falcon A. C. jolted the Minerva Gotchall-Hutchinson nine behind the two-hit pitching of Tom Dunn by a score of 8-1. In a Class A make-up tilt the Alliance Amvets dumped the Bliss, 9-2.

UNIONPORT, LAST year's runner-up to Shaffer Ford, gave the Columbiana County champs a tilt they could handle. The game was tied three times with the Unionport nine forcing the tilt into the extra innings with a two-run homer by Scott Hill, his second clout of the game, in the seventh to make the count, 5-5.

The winners tied up the game on two instances. Unionport took a 1-0 lead in the first half of the second on three successive hits. Old Dutch knotted the score in the second on a homer by Charlie Klan.

After Unionport moved to a 3-1 margin on Scott Hill's first homer, Old Dutch tied the game in the third on a single by Jim Weizencker and three walks. The county champs took a 4-3 lead in the fourth frame on singles by Lefty Miller, Jim Weizencker, Jerry Weizencker and Whitey Moore.

Another tally in the sixth inning upped the Old Dutch lead to 5-3 on a double by Miller and Jim Weizencker's third single of the game. Scott Hill then tied the tilt with his homer, setting the stage for Herman's game winning three-bagger.

HERMAN was the winning hurler giving up a total of 10 hits and fanning eight batters.

Glenn Hill, the third Unionport pitcher, received the loss.

Smithfield had an easy time with the Minerva crew as the winners took a 5-0 lead after three innings of play.

Minerva garnered its only run of the game on substitute Ellwood Haynam's homer in the fifth inning.

The winners scored two more tallies in the fifth and racked up its final score in the sixth.

Chuck Smith paced the six-hit attack of Smithfield with two hits. Tom Dunn was the winning hurler as he allowed only two hits and struck out eight.

Besides Haynam, the only other Minerva player to get a hit off Dunn was Let Haynam, who rapped a single in the third inning.

Old Dutch and Smithfield now advance onto the quarterfinals of the winners bracket and will play each other tonight at 9:15 p.m. Unionport and Minerva will battle tonight at 6 p.m. in the losers bracket.

IN THE CLASS A make-up encounter played the Alliance Amvets tallied four runs in the fifth inning on singles by Common, L. Moulin and J. Moulin and a double by George Alek to take a 6-0 lead and wrap up the tilt.

The Bliss managed to push two runs across the plate in the last half of the seventh inning on a walk and two errors along with a single by Bill Kyser. Both runs were unearned.

Alek and J. Moulin paced the Amvets attack with two hits apiece.

Kyser socked two safeties for the Bliss nine.

Eljer scored a mild upset in Hot Stove League action Friday when it bombed Class F second place-holder Elks, 11-3 in one of six games played.

South Trips North All-Stars 14-6

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — After three straight defeats, the southern all-stars were back on top today in the North - South High School All-Star Football Game.

The alert Rebels, irked at being rated underdogs, converted a pair of breaks into fourth-quarter touchdowns Friday night to trim the Yankees 14-6 in the 16th annual contest before about 14,500 fans in Fawcett Stadium.

May Be Last Game

It may have been the last all-star game of the series. If it was, the annual and colorful classic bowed out in a blaze of pyrotechnics.

After three full quarters of tugging, during which neither team showed a scoring punch and only nine first downs had been made, the South broke it open with less than a minute of the final session gone.

With the ball on its own 19-yard line, the North faked a line plunge but threw a pass. Dayton Roosevelt's John Henderson, a 6-4 end who is headed for Michigan, intercepted on the 30 and went in untouched for the first score.

Two minutes later, after the North had taken the ball on downs on the six-inch line, the South struck again. North quarterback Ray Sanfrey of Niles, who had thrown the pass captured by Henderson, fumbled on the three, and the Rebels recovered. Troy's Tom Vaughn hit center for the touchdown, Bill Portis of Zanesville ran for a two-point conversion, and the South had it wrapped up by 14-0.

With less than three minutes to go Springfield South's Tom Fugate fumbled a punt when hit hard by three Yankees, and substitute quarterback John Bukky of Madison Memorial recovered for the North on the 16.

Alliance's King Scores Bukky immediately passed to Alliance's Charles King in the end zone for the North's lone points.

As was reported in Thursday's News the Salem Merchants of the County-City Baseball League concluded their season with a 5-1 win over East Palestine Wednesday. The Merchants, however, recorded a season's mark of 12-8 and not 15-5 as was indicated.

Henderson, who caught four passes from quarterback Bill Gains of Dayton Colonel White for 84 yards in addition to his other standout feats, was named the game's most valuable player. The outcome left the North with an 8-6-2 edge in the series.

Future of the annual game is uncertain. The NCAA has decreed boys participating in such contests, unless the game has the approval of the state high school athletic association, must forfeit a year of collegiate eligibility.

Ohio's state board approved Friday night's game, but has declined to act on future ones.

Paul Warfield of Warren, now a bright Ohio State prospect, received a trophy as last year's most valuable player, and Wilbur Charles Leatherberry, a non-grinder from Hanoverton, Ohio, received the $1,000 college scholarship granted by the game sponsors. He'll use it as a law student at Western Reserve.

Yankees Win, Tigers Fall Four Games Back

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle has his 44th home run, and Roger Maris finally belted No. 42, but the New York Yankees' home run hero of the moment is Earl Battey—who does his work for the Minnesota Twins.

It was a pair of home runs by the Twins' catcher that beat Detroit 2-1 Friday night and dropped the second-place Tigers four games behind New York in the American League race, after Mantle and Maris had unloaded in a 12-5 breeze at Washington.

Mantle 14 Ahead of Ruth Mickey's home run, his first since last Sunday, put him 14 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace in 1927. Maris, hitting his first in eight games, is 11 games ahead of the Babe.

Baltimore smacked Boston 6-3, Cleveland defeated Los Angeles 3-2 and the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 1-0.

Battey's 12th home run of the season broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning for the Twins and made Pete Ramos (9-13) a winner in his duel with Paul Foytack (7-7). Each right-hander allowed six hits.

The Yankees, after scoring twice in the first inning, made it a romp with six runs in the third against Joe McClain (7-13). Elston Howard and winning right-hander Ralph Terry (8-1) hit two-run doubles in the big inning—in which Maris was retired twice and Man-

Eddie Arcaro Rides At Waterford Park

CHESTER, W. Va. — Eddie Arcaro, better known to a legion of turf followers as "The Master" because of his riding feats over a score of years, will appear in the saddle at Waterford Park next Thursday afternoon, August 17. So that everyone can see this great saddle wizard in action, grandstand admission will be free to all comers on that afternoon, and the largest weekday crowd of the meeting is expected to attend.

Eddie rode at Waterford Park two years ago and, despite a day-long rainstorm, drew a throng of 8,304 to the race course. In view of the fact that this may be his final appearance in West Virginia (there are rumors that he is about ready to hang up his tack and call it a career) that crowd may be equalled or passed this year. No rider in the last generation has attracted the attention or popular fancy as has Arcaro, who has booted home nearly 5,000 winners and won some $30,000,000 in purse money.

He is expected to accept four or five mounts on Thursday's racing program before returning to his native haunts at Saratoga.

Rookie Watkins Tallies Cleveland TD

Lions Rout Browns 35-7 In Exhibition

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions blitzed the Cleveland Browns for three touchdowns in the second quarter Friday night and went on to win a 35-7 decision in the opening exhibition game of the season for both National Football League clubs.

There was further grief for the Browns in the second period when Gene Hickerson, a veteran guard from Mississippi, suffered a broken leg in a collision with Jim Martin. He will be sidelined for an indefinite period.

Quarterback Earl Morrall, who came in after Jim Ninowski failed to put any spark in the Lions' attack, engineered the drive that put the game out of reach of the Browns. He threw touchdown passes of 59 and 22 yards to Terry Barr and then dropped a 16-yard scoring pass into the arms of Jim Gibbons.

The Lions made it 28-0 in the third period when Roger Brown ran a pass interception back to the Cleveland three and then Warren Rabb passed two yards to Gail Cogdill for the score.

Tom Watkins, a rookie from Iowa State, scored Cleveland's only touchdown on a one-yard plunge which capped a 74-yard drive in the third quarter. The marker was set up by Bobby Mitchell on a 28-yard run to the Detroit two.

Ninowski Passes For TD The Lions added their fifth touchdown in the last minute of play. Dick LeBeau ran a pass interception to the Browns' 14 and two plays later Ninowski threw an 11-yard scoring pass to Harold Boutte, a rookie end from San Jose State.

Idle Dodgers Take 1½ Game Lead In NL

Warren Spahn Hurls 300th Win; Pirates Triumph, Reds Defeated

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tough games? Warren Spahn has pitched plenty of them.

Remember the next to last day of the 1956 season? He pitched his heart out and lost 2-1 in 12 innings at St. Louis—and the loss knocked Milwaukee out of the National League pennant.

That same season he won No. 200—and he had to go 11 innings to nail it, 4-3 over Philadelphia.

Tough games? Maybe so. But none, Spahn confesses, was as tough as the one he won Friday night.

Becomes 13th Pitcher, 2nd Lefty That was No. 300, a six-hit spine-tingler as the 40-year-old wonder beat the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and became the 13th pitcher ever to win 300 in the majors' an achievement managed by only two other left-handers.

To do it, Spahn had to knock in the first run himself, with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly, and out-dueled Jack Curtis, a kid southpaw who was a 5-year-old when Spahn pitched his first game for the Braves in 1942. It wasn't decided until Gino Cimoli hit a home run in the eighth inning.

Spahn's success overshadowed the pennant race, in which San Francisco beat second-place Cincinnati and dropped the Reds 1½ games behind the idle Los Angeles Dodgers. Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-0 in a game called after 6 1-3 innings because of rain—and officially eliminated the last place Phils from the race with their 78th defeat, their 14th in a row.

In the merican League, Mickey Mantle hit his 44th home run and Roger Maris belted No. 42 as the New York Yankees won their ninth in a row, 12-5 at Washington, for a four-game bulge. Minnesota dropped second place Detroit 2-1. Baltimore battered Boston 6-3, Cleveland defeated Los Angeles 3-2 and the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 1-0.

Toughest Game Ever
"This was the toughest game I ever pitched," a smiling, seating Spahn admitted midst the cameras and champagne in the Braves' dressing room in Milwaukee's County Stadium.

Ernie Banks, the Cubs' ailing slugger, pinch hit with two out in the ninth and reached first on a throwing error by third baseman Ed Mathews. Jim McNamany then batted for Curtis (7-7) and Spahn got him on a soft fly for the last out.

The Giants, after blowing a 1-0 lead, broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth on a two-run single by Orlando Cepeda. Left-hander Jim O'Toole (11-9), who singled for the Reds' runs in the fifth, was the loser. Juan Marichal (10-7), a right-hander, was the winner.

Bob Clemente drove in two runs with a double and a home run for the Pirates, who roughed up Robin Roberts (1-9) on his return from the disabled list with a five-run first inning. Bob Friend (12-13) was the winner.

Driver Forfeits Bond Following Accident

LISBON — John Prince, 29, of Aliquippa, Pa., forfeited a $50 bond Friday evening in Mayor Dean Stockman's court when he failed to appear on a charge of reckless operation after his car struck a diner and gas station on Jackson St., just inside the village, early Thursday morning.
Prince and his wife, Delores, 29, were both injured in the accident. Prince was removed to a hospital near his home Friday afternoon but posted the bond in mayor's court and declared he would forfeit it.

East Palestine Fair Will End Tonight

EAST PALESTINE — Approximately 4,500 persons have attended the American Legion street fair which has been in progress here since Thursday night.
The fair will conclude tonight at 12.
Much of the crowd attending last night dispersed when a storm threatened at 8, but the rain did not begin until about 11.

SUN—Brigitte Bardot is the personification of summer gaiety on a street in Spoleto, Italy. The French film star is there to complete her film, "Private Life."

Kennedy

drew the support of 16 Democrats and 23 Republicans.

Kennedy's request for authority to borrow money from the Treasury to finance the loans is the key-stone of this year's $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill. It includes $1,187,000,000 in loan funds for this year.

Still left for decision when the Senate quit for the weekend is whether it will vote the full five-year, $8.8-billion program Kennedy has asked for making easy-term loans to underdeveloped nations.

Amendments will be offered next week to cut the number of years of long-term borrowing authority and reduce the yearly totals. But Friday night's action nailed down Senate support of the principle of borrowing authority—which Byrd and other opponents denounced as "back-door financing."

This method of financing may encounter rougher going in the House, which takes up the foreign aid bill next week. Byrd told reporters the sizable Senate vote against the proposal would strengthen House resistance.

Fairgrounds Office To Accept Entries

LISBON — The Fairgrounds office of Clarence Crosser, secretary of the Columbiana County Agriculture Society, will be open Monday to accept entries for the annual county fair Aug. 22-26.

Entries for the fair will close at 5 p.m. Aug. 21, with arrangement of exhibits to be completed by 10 p.m.

HUB CAPS STOLEN

Police reported four hub caps were stolen from a car owned by Parker Chevrolet Co. of 292 W. State St. between 6 and 8 p.m. Friday.

GOLD AND GIRL — In this case, what glitters really is gold—about 31 pounds of it. The huge nugget was found in the gold fields near Kolima, U.S.S.R., and makes a heavy handful for Miss V. Kutzevalova who works as inspector.

Revolt

tionary manifesto after seizing the telephone exchange which controls all radio lines, giving the impression at first that it was a nationwide revolt.

Police and troops were rushed to buildings where the rebels were holed up, but held their fire.

Armed with pistols and light machineguns, the rebels fired when police approached the telephone building only 25 blocks from Government House where Frondizi was meeting with his political and military aides.

The rebels claimed in their brief broadcast that they had no political links.

A law student, Hector Corres, among those who surrendered at the radio station, identified the leader of the rebels as his brother, Air Force Commander Vincente Corres.

Declaring that calm prevailed throughout the rest of the country, the communique said "the armed forces with the support of the people guarantee peace and constitutional security."

The president did not appear disturbed by the uprising. Almost immediately he telephoned assurance to his economic minister, Roberto Alemann, at the Inter-American Conference that everything was normal in Buenos Aires. He told Alemann not to worry about the revolt and continue working at the parley.

THEFT IS REPORTED

LISBON — Mrs. John Yovanovic, Lisbon RD 4, reported to the sheriff's office that 15 bathing suits were stolen from her cabin at Guilford Lake Friday morning. She placed the value of the suits at $65. Also taken were six bath towels valued at $18. Deputies are investigating.

BICYCLE STOLEN

A bicycle owned by Jerry Menough, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Menough of 364 Penn Ave., was stolen Friday from the Centennial Park pool while the boy was swimming, police report.

CAR AERIAL BROKEN

Albert Adams of 659 Franklin Ave., reported to police that someone broke the aerial off his car while it was parked at the corner of Reilly St. and Franklin St. between 9:30 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. today.
